Introduction: Medicare and its Provision for Religious Nonmedical Health Care for Christian Scientists

This booklet is a reference tool for anyone interested in Medicare coverage for Christian Science nursing care at a Religious Nonmedical Health Care Institution (which includes accredited Christian Science nursing facilities). It has been prepared to help the reader make informed decisions related to the cost of Christian Science care. For instance, ACA/Obamacare regulations stipulate that anyone who was eligible or became eligible for Medicare before 2014 is not be required to purchase additional (mandatory) healthcare insurance.

Arden Wood does not offer a recommendation in favor or against the use of Medicare or private insurance. The Bible tells us, "God shall supply all your need according to his riches..." (Philippians 4:19), and each of us is demonstrating this fact in accord with our spiritual understanding and our obedience to God's direction. The titles of several metaphysical articles on topics of health and supply are listed on page 12.

Arden Wood's ministry is "to support healing through skillful Christian Science nursing care and training, inspired living, and Christly service." Based upon an individual's financial situation, Arden Wood offers financial assistance or benevolence grants to patients who may not have insurance or be able to afford the full cost of care.

The Medicare STORY:

Part A, Part B, Part C, and Part D

Medicare has four parts to its program, and understanding the difference between them is helpful.

Part A (Hospital Insurance) helps pay for inpatient hospital and religious nonmedical health care, such as that offered by Arden Wood. Part A has deductible and coinsurance charges that you must pay out of your own pocket.

- Most individuals do not have to pay for this coverage.
- Part A benefits are usable in a religious nonmedical health care institution (RNHCI).

Part B (Medical Insurance) helps pay for doctor services provided in or out of the hospital, outpatient hospital services, durable medical equipment, and other medical services and supplies. Part B also has deductible and coinsurance charges that you must pay out of your own pocket.

- Everyone who enrolls in Part B must pay for this coverage. The minimum premium for 2014 is $104.90 a month. Some individuals with a higher income will be required to pay a higher premium. (Details are available online at <http://answers.hhs.gov/questions/3006>)
- Part B benefits are not usable in a religious nonmedical health care institution (RNHCI).

Parts A and B benefits do not overlap or duplicate coverage. You can have just Part A, or both Parts A and B.

Part C (privatized Medicare Health Plans) Medicare health plans provide the Medicare-eligible consumer with different options for medical health care coverage by transferring Medicare benefits to other health care organizations. These do not include care in a Christian Science nursing facility. Part C Medicare health plan choices include:

- Medicare Advantage Plans
- Medicare Managed Care Plans
- Medicare Preferred Provider Organization Plans (PPO)
- Medicare Private Fee-for-Service Plans
- Medicare Specialty Plans

These are privately managed and are not the same as The Original Medicare Plan administered by the government.

- Part C plans, managed by HMOs and PPOs (medical groups), usually have no accommodation in them for use at a RNHCI, or Christian Science nursing facility. Only the Original Medicare Plan allows you to use your Part A benefits at a RNHCI.
- Part C plans often provide more comprehensive medical coverage than Medicare Part A and B.

Part D (Prescription Drug Coverage) is a program designed to help Medicare beneficiaries save money on prescription drugs. The plans will be offered by private health care companies, and you would choose one of the plans in your area.

- Part D has a deductible and co-payments that you must pay out of your own pocket.
- Everyone who enrolls in Part D must pay for this coverage. The monthly premium varies depending on the plan you choose.
- Part D benefits are not usable for services in a RNHCI, where no drugs are used.

What is Medicare?

Medicare is a federal health insurance program that was created in 1965 to help Americans who are 65 years or older, and certain persons categorized by the government as disabled, pay for health care. The program is run by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Since the beginning of the Medicare program, the Social Security Act has contained provisions authorizing Medicare payment for qualified Christian Science nursing services furnished in certified Christian Science Sanatoriums (nursing facilities). With more recent legislation, Medicare regulations have replaced mention of Christian Science nursing and Christian Science Sanatoriums with the term "Religious Nonmedical Health Care Institutions" (RNHCI) to avoid giving government support to a single religious group. Of the twenty or so Christian Science nursing facilities in the United States, many are certified as Medicare RNHCI facilities, including Arden Wood.

How to Apply for Medicare

If you are already receiving benefits from Social Security or the Railroad Retirement Board, you will automatically be notified to sign up for Medicare Part A and Part B, and you will be eligible to sign up for Part D as of the first day of the month you turn 65. If you are under the age of 65 and disabled (as determined by the government), you will automatically get Medicare Part A and Part B, and be eligible to sign up for Part D after you have received social security disability or Railroad Retirement benefits for 24 months.

If you are close to the age of 65 and not yet receiving Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits, but you would like Medicare coverage, you must apply for Part A and/or Parts B and D.

To apply for Medicare Part A and/or Parts B and D benefits, you should call the Social Security Administration at 1(800) 772-1213 or visit your local Social Security office three to six months before your 65th birthday.

Enrolling in Part A is included in your Social Security Benefit package at no additional cost to you. Enrolling in Part B and Part D is your choice. If you choose to enroll in Part B, there are three times when you can sign up:

- Initial Enrollment Period
- General Enrollment Period
- Special Enrollment Period

The Initial Enrollment Period begins three months before the month you turn 65 and ends three months after the month you turn 65.

The General Enrollment Period runs from January 1 through March 31 each year. Your Medicare Part B coverage will start on July 1 of the year in which you enroll. The cost of Medicare Part B will increase 10% for each 12-month period you could have had Medicare Part B but did not take it. You will have to pay this extra amount for as long as you have Medicare Part B.

Contact the Social Security Office to enroll in Medicare within three months of your 65th birthday.

The Fall Open Enrollment Period is from 10/15 – 12/7, 2014. During this time you can change your Medicare health coverage for 2014. Your coverage would begin January 1, 2015. You may also change from Medicare Advantage Plan (Part C) to original Medicare (Part A and/or B) during the Medicare Advantage Disenrollment Period from 1/1 – 2/14.

The Special Enrollment Period is available if you are eligible for Medicare but waited to enroll in Medicare Part B because you or your spouse had group health plan coverage through an employer or union. In this case, you can sign up for Medicare Part B any time you are still covered by an employer or union group health plan, or during the eight months following the month that the employer or union group health plan coverage ends, or when the employment ends — whichever comes first.

For additional information, please contact Social Security at 1(800) 772-1213.

What Medicare Covers

Medicare provides basic coverage, but it does not cover all health care costs. It was designed to help prevent major medical expenses from causing financial ruin. It was not designed to pay 100% of your health care bills.

If, like many Americans, you plan to use Medicare for your health insurance needs after age 65, you should know what type of care Medicare covers, and what you will be expected to pay.

Part A (Hospital Coverage): If you are admitted to a hospital or a religious nonmedical health care institution (RNHCI), such as Arden Wood, Part A helps pay for the following:

- Semi-private* room and meals
- Regular nursing services (this does not include metaphysical support, such as practitioner fees or the service of reading religious literature to patients)
- Nursing supplies

Part B (Medical Coverage): Because Medicare Part B covers doctor's services, outpatient hospital services, durable medical equipment, and other medical services and supplies, you are not able to use your Part B benefits in a religious nonmedical health care institution (RNHCI).

NOTE: If you plan to purchase additional insurance to supplement your Medicare coverage, the insurance company may require that you have Part B coverage before it will offer you the supplemental policy. (See "Bridging the 'Medigap,'" page 7)

Part C (privatized Medicare Health Care Plans): Part C plans have no coverage for care in Christian Science nursing facilities or RNHCIs. These typically cover the services included in Medicare Part A and Part B. Each organization that is qualified to offer these plans has its own schedule of coverage, and there are a variety of options.

Contact the Social Security Office to enroll in Medicare within three months of your 65th birthday.

Part D (Prescription Drug Coverage): This helps cover self-administered prescription drug costs. Part D is not usable at a RNHCI such as Arden Wood. Individuals not wishing to participate in Medicare Part D should call Medicare and un-enroll to ensure they are not automatically signed up for a prescription drug program. Before un-enrolling from Part D, check with your insurance carriers to be sure they do not require you to carry it.

To enroll in or un-enroll from Part D or for more information about Part D, call 1 (800) MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227) or visit the website at www.medicare.gov.

Expenses Not Covered by Medicare

The following are some examples of care, or "exclusions," that Medicare does not pay for:

- Long-term care
- Custodial care to help with daily living activities
- Private duty nurses
- Private room in a hospital*
- Christian Science Practitioner fees
- Full-time nursing care at home
- Hairdresser or other personal needs
- Personal comfort items, such as a telephone or TV in your inpatient room
- Dental care and dentures (with only a few exceptions)
- Care received outside the USA

In a facility like Arden Wood, where all the rooms are private, this is covered by Medicare.*

Sharing the Cost of Care

SERVICES	BENEFIT LENGTH	MEDICARE PAYS	IN 2013 YOU PAY
Hospital or RNHCI Care (deductible portion of Medicare)	1st–60th day	100% of all covered charges in excess of the deductible	Medicare Deductible of $1,216 and all non-covered charges
Hospital or RNHCI Care (Coinsurance portion of Medicare)	61st–90th day	All covered charges in excess of $304/day	$304/day and all non-covered charges
Hospital or RNHCI Care (Lifetime Reserve Days portion of Medicare)	91st–150th day	All covered charges in excess of $608/day	$608/day and all non-covered charges

Your share of the cost is in the form of deductibles and co-payments. Check the chart to see just how much your share of typical expenses could be. Medicare usually raises its deductible and co-payments every January 1. Each year's new deductible and co-payment amount can be obtained by calling Medicare at 1(800) 633-4227 or by visiting their website at www.medicare.gov.

Medicare excludes some types of care and requires you to pay for a portion of the care it does cover.

Bridging the “Medigap”

Medicare will not pay 100% of your health care bills. Medicare’s deductibles, coinsurance, non-covered charges, and exclusions could cause your share of your health care bills to add up quickly. The difference between what Medicare pays and the actual cost of your health care is often called the “medigap.” Should you be interested in supplementing your Medicare coverage, the following are brief descriptions of the most widely known types of supplemental insurance coverage.

Medicare Supplements

Many individuals enrolled in Medicare also carry a separate insurance policy to supplement their Medicare benefits. These insurance plans are referred to as “Medigap” or “Medicare supplement” policies because they are designed to help fill the specific gaps left after Medicare has paid its share of your bill. The front of the Medigap policy must clearly identify it as “Medicare Supplement Insurance.”

- Medicare supplement benefits can help pay your Part A deductible and your inpatient co-payment, known as coinsurance.
- The extent of coverage varies from plan to plan.
- If you buy a Medigap policy, you will pay a monthly premium to the private insurance company that sells you the policy.
- Although a great number of companies offer this type of insurance, legislation that went into effect in 1992 has standardized the benefits these plans can offer.

- Many companies offering Medigap insurance require you to carry Medicare Part B.
- In all states except Massachusetts, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, a Medigap policy must be one of twelve standardized policies (Plans A–L), so you can compare them easily.

Medigap policies are designed to fill the “gap”!

Employer Group Insurance for Retirees

Private insurance through your or your spouse’s former employer may sometimes be continued or converted into a supplemental policy after retirement. Such converted coverage usually has the advantage of no waiting periods. Premiums may even be paid, in whole or in part, by the employer. Converted employer group insurance policies, however, do not have to comply with federal standards for Medicare supplements. This makes it important to check the specific benefits your retirement policy provides. If you are not planning to retire at age 65, your employer-provided coverage and Medicare can work together to give you suitable protection to help cover expenses not covered by Medicare.

PLEASE NOTE:

- In general, health maintenance organizations (HMOs) and most group health insurance plans do not include a provision to pay for nursing care at a Christian Science care facility.
- Be sure to check with your group insurance provider or insurance broker to determine if your insurance meets your needs.
- You may need to enroll in Medicare Part B in order to purchase a Medigap or Medicare Supplement policy. (See “The Medicare Story, Part A, B, C, and D,” page 3.)

The Medicare Election (choice)

In order to receive Medicare benefits at a Christian Science nursing facility (or RNHCI), the rules require Medicare beneficiaries (patients) to specifically choose or “elect” to receive care in a RNHCI based on their own religious convictions. Patients may also revoke that election at any time if for any reason they decide to pursue medical care. The beneficiary must have a valid election* (in writing and notarized) in effect to receive Medicare payment for any RNHCI services. (See “Frequently Asked Questions about the Medicare Election” on page 9 for details on when and how this should happen.)

 Definition of Election: A written statement signed by a Medicare beneficiary or the beneficiary’s legal representative (using a valid Power of Attorney or an Advance Health Care Directive) indicating the beneficiary’s choice to receive nonmedical care or treatment for religious reasons.*

Intentional Revocation of an Election

Revocation is the cancellation of the religious nonmedical health care institution election. This cancellation can be achieved in two ways:

- By submitting a written statement to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) indicating a desire to cancel the election, or
- By seeking non-accepted medical care for which Medicare payment is sought. (See previous article, “What Qualifies for Reimbursement at a Religious Nonmedical Health Care Institution?”)

Upon admission to a religious nonmedical health care institution (RNHCI) such as Arden Wood, you or your legal representative will be required to sign and have notarized an “election form” stating that:

1. You elect to receive Medicare benefits for nursing services furnished in a RNHCI.
2. You are conscientiously opposed to acceptance of non-accepted medical treatment.*
3. You acknowledge that acceptance of non-accepted medical treatment* is inconsistent with your sincere religious beliefs.
4. You acknowledge that receipt of non-accepted medical treatment* constitutes a revocation of any election form you have previously signed and may limit your further receipt of services in a RNHCI.
5. You acknowledge that any previously signed election may be revoked by submitting a written statement to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid.
6. You acknowledge that revocation of the election will not prevent or delay access to medical services available under Medicare Part A in facilities other than religious nonmedical health care institutions.

 You have agreed to non-accepted medical treatment (medical treatment* furnished by or under the direction of a licensed physician, for which Medicare payment is requested, unless such care or treatment is received involuntarily or required under federal, state, or local laws).

It is easy to unintentionally revoke your Medicare election!

Unintentional Revocation of an Election

It is easy to unintentionally revoke your Medicare Election (decision) to use your Part A Medicare benefits to cover care at a Christian Science care facility (RNHCI). This has occurred hundreds of times in the past when Christian Scientists chose to use their Part B coverage for eye exams, wheelchair rentals, and so on. (The federal government considers such a decision to be, in effect, revoking a choice to rely on spiritual means alone for healing.) See section on “Frequently Asked Questions about the Medicare Election,” page 9, for more information.

Frequently Asked Questions About the Medicare Election

Q: When should I sign the election form?

A: The form should be signed and notarized when you are admitted to a Christian Science nursing facility and require nursing care that is to be paid for through the Medicare Benefits Program.

Q: If I received Christian Science nursing care several months ago and signed an election form at that time, and I am being admitted for care again, do I need to sign another election form?

A: No, as long as you have not voluntarily or unintentionally revoked the earlier election.

Q: After signing an election form at a Christian Science nursing facility, I voluntarily received medical care or equipment paid for by Medicare. What does this mean in terms of my eligibility for Medicare benefits at a Christian Science facility at a later time?

A: Voluntarily receiving medical care or equipment paid for by Medicare is considered a revocation of the election. Privately paying for any medical equipment or services received allows you to avoid unintentionally revoking your election. However, should you revoke your election, and it is the first time you have done so, you are entitled to execute a new election when you are readmitted to a Christian Science facility and you will be immediately eligible for Medicare benefits.

Q: What happens if I revoke the second election?

A: If you revoke your second election, you must wait one year before a third election will be allowed. This does not mean you cannot receive care at a Christian Science facility; it only means that Medicare will not pay for the care.

Q: If I revoke an election for the third time by voluntarily seeking medical care or equipment that is paid for by Medicare, what will happen?

A: Medicare will not pay for care at a Christian Science facility for a period of five years following your third (or subsequent) revocation of an election.

Q: What happens if I am taken to the hospital against my wishes?

A: Any medical care or treatment you receive involuntarily does not constitute a revocation of an election. The purpose of the revocation is to discourage patients from going back and forth between medical and nonmedical care, and asking Medicare to pay for it. If you have questions regarding the election process, please contact our Christian Science Nursing Department at (415) 379-2224.

Words to know

Advance Health Care Directive

(aka Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care): A document that you sign giving another person, whom you designate as your “attorney-in-fact,” trustee, or agent, the power to make health care or placement decisions for you if you are incapacitated or cannot make the decisions for yourself. You may provide instructions in these documents regarding your care or placement that will be required to be honored. Otherwise, the “attorney-in-fact” or agent will be expected to exercise his or her judgment in making care and placement decisions in your best interest.

Benefit Period: The way Medicare measures your use of hospital or RNHCI services. A benefit period begins the day you go to a hospital or RNHCI (Christian Science nursing facility). The benefit period ends when you haven’t received hospital or religious nonmedical health care for 60 days in a row. If you go into the hospital or facility after one benefit period has ended, a new benefit period begins. You must pay the inpatient hospital deductible for each benefit period. There is no limit to the number of benefit periods you can have.

Coinsurance: The percent of the Medicare-approved amount that you have to pay after you pay the deductible for Part A and/or Part B.

Deductible: The amount you must pay for health care before Medicare begins to pay, either each benefit period for Part A, or each year for Part B. The amounts can change every year.

Inpatient Care: Health care you receive when you are admitted to a hospital or religious nonmedical health care institution.

Legal Representative: Any individual “who, as determined by applicable State law, has the legal authority” to act on behalf of the beneficiary [42 C.F.R. §405.400]. This is usually accomplished via a power of attorney (including, in California, an advance health care directive) without court intervention, or by a court appointed guardian or conservator.

Lifetime Reserve Days: The 60 days that Medicare will pay for when you are in a hospital or religious nonmedical health care institution (RNHCI) more than 90 days during a benefit period. These 60 days can be used only once during your lifetime.

Medicare-Approved Amount: This is the Medicare payment amount for a covered item or service.

Medigap Policy: A Medicare supplemental insurance policy sold by private insurance companies to fill “gaps” in the original Medicare plan coverage, such as the gap created by your Medicare deductible or coinsurance.

Medicare Summary Notice (MSN): A notice you get after the provider files a claim for Part A services in the Original Medicare Plan. It explains what the provider billed for, the Medicare approved amount, how much Medicare will pay, and what you must pay.

Advance Healthcare Directives or Healthcare Powers of Attorney vary in each state.

HMO: A Health Maintenance Organization (such as Kaiser) requires you to use only its member providers in order to receive covered care. Medicare Advantage plans through an HMO do not pay claims from RNHCI facilities.

PPO: A Preferred Provider Organization is assigned by the insurance provider/carrier (such as Blue Cross/Blue Shield of California); the patient is free to see any physician within the PPO without referral. A PPO is less restrictive than an HMO.

Mary Baker Eddy's practical wisdom is heartening as we seek to rely on God alone for healing and care, as understood and demonstrated in Christian Science:

"Every one should be encouraged not to accept any personal opinion on so great a matter, but to seek the divine Science of this question of Truth by following upward individual convictions, undisturbed by the frightened sense of any need of attempting to solve every Life-problem in a day" (Unity of Good, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 5:9).

Admission for Christian Science Nursing Care at Arden Wood

For admission to our Christian Science nursing services program, we require that:

- The patient is expectantly and fully relying on Christian Science for healing.
- The patient is working with a Christian Science practitioner listed in The Christian Science Journal.
- The patient has designated someone as his or her home and care guarantor.*
- The patient is free from the use of medication.

Please call our Christian Science Nursing Department at (415) 379-2224 for additional information on admission.

 The home and care guarantor is an individual willing to take responsibility for making any necessary arrangements for you to get home or elsewhere when it is time to leave Arden Wood. They also make sure any necessary assistance and care are provided for at that time.*

About Our Organization...

Arden Wood's history is rich—filled with decades of healing and regeneration. Dedicated west coast Christian Scientists collaborated closely with The Mother Church to establish and found this institution. In 1926, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts — The Mother Church — selected the current site to build the West Coast Christian Science nursing facility. Construction began in 1929, and the "Christian Science Benevolent Association on Pacific Coast" opened in May of 1930. In 1973, The Mother Church appointed a local board of trustees, and the facility began operating as a private, nonprofit organization. Eventually, it became known as the Arden Wood Benevolent Association, and then as Arden Wood, Inc. Arden Wood adheres to the teachings of the pastor of Christian Science: The Holy Bible and Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. The Manual of The Mother Church provides for Christian Science nursing, and Arden Wood supports the activity of these nurses.

Our nursing patients are active students of Christian Science and rely solely on God for healing as taught in Christian Science. Our mission is: "To support healing through skillful Christian Science nursing care and training, inspired living, and Christly service."
